

DATA PROTECTION POLICY

Any personal information that we may collect from you will only be collected and held in accordance of the Data Protection Act 1998.

We may use personal information in order to:

Process any orders or enquiries you may make,

Provide you with Goods and Services,

Inform you of any news, special offers or updates. You may request to stop receiving this information from us at any given time.

We will not pass on your information to any third parties without acquiring your consent and only where it may be relevant or appropriate to do so.